

LEADING AUTHORITIES SAY BUSINESS HAS NAUGHT TO FEAR IN 1921

New York Bankers Point Out That Federal Reserve System Has Prevented Panic as It Was Intended to and That Conditions Are Returning to Pre-War Level Even Faster Than Expected.

(Copyright, 1920, by the International News Service.)
By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Dec. 31.—Leading New bankers, whose business extends into all parts of the country, declared in exclusive statements to the International News Service today that a sound basis was being created for more stable and healthful business during the year 1921.

The consensus of opinion was: That deflation in loosening the speculative grip on many basic commodities had brought a sounder and more normal condition into the nation's business life.

That credit will be more flexible in 1921.

That employers, wage earners and merchants must share alike in cuts for their commodities and services.

That a business crisis, created by retroactions, has been passed.

Those who are most closely studying the existing situation, feel that the worst of the tide in declining prices and liquidation is very near," said Charles H. Sablin, president of the Guaranty Trust Company, a concern with resources of $500,000,000.

"Although there are many readjustments from the effects of war yet to be made in the months and years to come, they believe there is reasonable assurance of a return to normal business conditions; stabilized prices, easier money and larger business opportunities.

"Fortunately for this country, its underlying conditions, for the most part, are sound. Our large gold reserve, our sound financial situation, our tremendous crops, our national wealth and accumulative surplus, our improved transportation and industrial conditions, our foreign markets and our great natural resources all underlie the business situation and give promise of a prosperity and progress greater than any enjoyed in the past.

"The present readjustments have extended throughout the world and have affected business conditions generally. In facing this period of liquidation, deflation and reconstruction, however, it should be a source of particular congratulation to the people that American financial institutions, on the whole, are on a sound basis and amply prepared to meet both the problems of the situation and the opportunities that are certain to follow.

"The manner in which our banking system has responded to the needs of American business in the trying year just ended, is a cause for gratification. Banking credits were expanded to meet the needs as they developed.

"Formerly such sweeping industrial changes as were witnessed in 1920 culminated in acute financial disturbances, followed by prolonged business depression. In this instance, the banks, largely due to elasticity of credits provided by the Federal Reserve System and to their foresight in accumulating ample reserves, have maintained their strength and capacity for service.

"By the combination of clear thinking, hard working and courageous action, I believe that greater rewards will come to this nation and that resources to the combined call of duty and opportunity, service and profit, which the situation offers, there will follow constantly, expanding powers of service which should mark the goal of every progressive people."

"The first thing to understand about this depression," said George E. Roberts, vice-president of the National City Bank, "is that it is not confined to the United States or to the products of this country. It is world wide and is an effect of disintegration of industry and trade by the war."

"We have a country of wonderful resources and are in a better position to stand it than most other countries."

"Other people cannot buy of us until they are producing goods they can trade to us. And just as the world is interdependent in trade, so are we at home. Interdependence in various occupations. The farmer has been hard hit by the decline of prices of his products and his loss of purchasing power affects all the industries. The department of agriculture estimated the value of farm products for 1919 at nearly $25,000,000,000—about a third of all the wealth that was produced in this country that year. The value of 1920 farm products probably was less by one-fourth or one-third."

resources and there is plenty of work to be done, and it will go ahead as soon as the natural balance between the industries is restored."

The business year 1921 can be faced with confidence, according to L. G. Kaufman, president of the Chatham and Phoenix National Bank, which has 86,000 accounts of firms doing business throughout the country, because American firms have had the foresight to deflate.

"Manufacturers, wholesalers and jobbers are past the peak of liquidation," he said. "Their speed in getting back to a pre-war basis has been amazing. But I am not so sure all the retailers have been so prompt to give the buying public the advantages of manufacturers' and wholesalers' cuts."

Mr. Kaufman said he believed that before 1921, is half gone the country would witness a revival of business along normal lines.

James S. Alexander, president of the National Bank of Commerce, believes that with credit revolving faster and frozen credits being thawed out, there is no reason to be gloomy about 1921. The past year's difficulties he attributed to the volume of non-self-liquidating government paper held by banks, the national transportation breakdown which tied up goods, the speculation in commodities and the buyers' strike. All these have not become liquidated, he stated, because consumer buying has been slow, and until this becomes more active, production will be subnormal. All of these conditions which hampered 1920 business, may be expected to disappear during 1921, Mr. Alexander held.

GERMANS INSIST

On Enough Force To Keep Down Radicals.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, Dec. 31.—Chancellor Frehnbach held an interview with the French ambassador today on the disarmament situation. The chancellor is understood to have assured the French envoy that Germany will carry out the terms of the Spa agreement, "but will not weaken herself to the extent of putting herself at the mercy of the Reds." The chancellor was reported to have said that Germany would retain sufficient men under arms to preserve order.

The chancellor interrupted his Christmas holiday in order to meet the French ambassador.

LOVING CUP GIVEN TO MRS. LAHL

By Seven Men Whose Service in France Was Made More Cheerful by Her Weekly Letters From Home Town News.

Mrs. Charles Lahl, Jr., wife of a Fire Commissioner Lahl, was presented with a silver loving cup on Thursday evening by seven Kingston ex-service men in appreciation of her kindness and the good cheer given these young men while in the service through almost weekly correspondence with each of the young men. Mrs. Lahl had been notified that there was to be a gathering of school teachers at the home of Mrs. Frank Elmendorf on Lindsey avenue and was greatly surprised when she walked into the room and found seven young men. The presentation was a complete surprise. While in the service during 1917-1918 the seven young men whose names were engraved upon the cup received weekly letters filled with news from the old home town from Mrs. Lahl, and it was in appreciation of this splendid act that the cup was given.

On one side of the cup were engraved the names of the donors, Eugene B. Carey, Peter A. Carey, Harry S. Conklin, Vinat Elmendorf, John A. Nozka, Harold T. Van Deusen, and Alfred C. Lahl. On the other side was engraved "To Mrs. Charles Lahl, Jr., appreciating thousands of kind words during the World War, 1917-1918."

D. B. DEYO TO ASSIST KAUFMAN

As Clerk in Surrogate's Court—Appointment Counts Unsolicited To Man Preferred By Many Members of Bar.

DANIEL B. DEYO.

Daniel B. Deyo will receive the appointment from Surrogate-elect George F. Kaufman as clerk of the surrogate's court and will qualify for the position on Monday by taking the constitutional oath of office. Mr. Deyo is experienced on the work of the surrogate's court, having served for six years under Surrogate Walter N. Gill. He began his experience in the surrogate's court as recording clerk under Judge Parker when the judge was surrogate.

Mr. Deyo's appointment comes to him unsolicited and is made at the request of many members of the bar. Mr. Deyo is a native of the town of Gardiner but has spent most of his life in Kingston. He served as assistant district attorney during the administration of the Hon. John N. Vandervlin, and for a number of years served as United States commissioner.

TRYING TO SOLVE HOUSING PROBLEM

Suggestion That Organizations Already Existing Be Expanded in Order to Meet the Situation is Considered.

The housing problem in Kingston is again under consideration by a Chamber of Commerce committee which is seeking a solution. At a recent meeting of this committee the matter was discussed at length and various plans suggested for the promotion of home building in Kingston.

The plan most favorably received was one that contemplated using the organizations we already have. Instead of attempting to organize a housing corporation or any new body. It was agreed that individual effort toward home owning might be stimulated, greatly to the advantage of the individual and the community, were the existing building and loan associations in a position to loan more money. Applications for loans far exceed the amount of money available. These associations have existed for many years, are conservatively and efficiently managed, paying no salaries and having very little expense. Their loans have been negligible and they are fully equipped to handle any amount of business that may be made possible by increased investment in their stock, which has always paid in the neighborhood of 5 per cent.

A tentative suggestion was made in the committee that, if acceptable to these associations, a campaign of advertising and soliciting might be arranged by the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of increasing interest in these savings and loan associations and marketing their stock either on monthly installments or in paid up certificates, thus placing in their hands as fast as it could be used to advantage sufficient funds to meet all proper applications for loans.

No definite action was taken as it was thought best to further consider the matter.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Dec. 31.—The practice of the Western Union Telegraph Company in refusing to extend credit to its telegraph stations transferred to it by the Postal Telegraph Company, while granting credit to others, was held by the interstate commerce commission today to be unjust and unreasonable, and the commission issued an order prescribing for the Western Union reasonable practices in the future in conformity with its decision.

TUBERCULOSIS PATIENTS' XMAS

These At The Camp Share In Seasonal Celebrations And Gifts Provided By Generous People of City.

The people of Kingston know how to heartily enter into the "True inwardness of things," another evidence of that fact having been shown at the Tuberculosis Camp Thursday evening, when the Christmas celebration took place. In spite of its usual shabby appearance the hospital looked really gay and festive with all the windows lighted, and holly wreaths in each of the lighted windows. And those wreaths of real holly were among the greatly prized gifts to the patients. And the beautiful tree, gift of J. Garbarino was all ablaze with lights and lovely decorations.

The evening's entertainment was given by the young people of the Trinity M. E. Church, their pastor, the Rev. P. C. Weyant, accompanying the party. And a very unique but beautiful entertainment it was, being the story of the prophesied coming of the Christ; the birth of the Christ-child and the flight into Egypt. The program was as follows:

Carol—"Joy to the World"
Chorus of Young People
Prayer and Scripture Reading
Appropriate to the Occasion

The Rev. P. C. Weyant
"Four Hundred Years of Silence"
Lester Finley
Carol—"It Came Upon the Midnight, Clear"

Miss Miriam Motrie
Carol—"There's a Song in the Air"
"Annunciation to Joseph"

George E. Lowe
"The Shepherds and the Angels"
Miss Janet Thompson
"The Visit of the Wise Men"

Arthur Flemming
Carol—"Hark, the Herald Angels Sing"

Farina Corregan
"The Flight into Egypt"
Vocal Solo—"Silent Night, Holy Night"

Mrs. Leroy Wood
Address, theme—"Gratitude for the Coming of the Christ-child and the Loving Sympathy Which That Coming Brought Into the World"
The Rev. P. C. Weyant
Carol—"O Little Town of Bethlehem"

Mr. Potter acted as master of ceremonies, while Mr. Potter presided at the piano. Others who made up the splendid chorus, were Miss Eva Schook, Miss Bessie Schook, Miss Laura Bailey, Elmer Douglas and Milford Douglas.

In the afternoon the gifts and packages had been tied up and made ready for distribution by the following members of Trinity Church congregation, under the supervision of Mrs. Potter: Miss Heeb, Miss Bessie Marsh, Miss Minnie Osterhout, Miss Sue Osterhout, Miss Flora Dana.

Mrs. C. N. Reed then extended to the patients the greetings of their many friends, whose number grows from year to year, and read a few of the letters which had accompanied the gifts, because they were so full of love, Christmas spirit.

The patients were also told that among the gifts which these good friends had made possible by their generosity was a year's subscription to the New York Daily World and one to the Ladies' Home Companion, which called forth hearty applause, and by the way, the audiences at the TB Camp are always delightfully enthusiastic and appreciative.

Then came the distribution of gifts, brought with the money so generously contributed or as gifts from friends, as follows: Each woman had a bottle of refreshing toilet water, and each man a good pair of suspenders. Little Marie Kavanaugh had a beautifully warm Angora bogen cap and a set of dishes from some little girls in the Trinity M. E. Church. Furthermore each patient had a box of candy and a little envelope containing a silver half dollar. The faithful women attendants—cook, laundress, etc., were remembered with a box of stationery and handkerchiefs.

Nor were the nurses, Miss Hamberger and Miss Shaw, whom one of the patients described very accurately as "the best ever," forgotten, their gift being a pretty calendar each.

As Miss Hamberger was presented with her gift, she asked Mrs. Reed in behalf of the patients to extend to the various women's clubs who had made and contributed the knitted comforts which the patients had about them and which in and of themselves lent an air of gaiety and comfort to the scene, their heartiest thanks for these splendid gifts which are already so deeply appreciated by these fortunate people to have them.

Mrs. Reed said she would be glad to do so, but as there were not enough to go around, she would add on her own behalf, since "gratitude is a keen appreciation of more favors to come," a plea to the women of Kingston to make enough more of these comforts so that there may be one for each patient.

GUY BARRINGER OF SAMSONVILLE, SHOT BY NEIGHBOR, MAY DIE

Authorities Start After Man Named Olsen Who Is Said to Have Fired Three Bullets Into Barringer Without Provocation.

TO CALIFORNIA FOR PRISONER

Sheriff Smith on Way to Selma to Bring Back Theron Hall, Indicted For Larceny in Southern Ulster County.

Theron Hall was indicted by the December grand jury for grand larceny in the first degree and grand larceny in the second degree and is now in the Fresno county, California, jail at Selma, Cal., where he is awaiting extradition to New York state. Sheriff Wright J. Smith left town Thursday night with extradition papers and a warrant for Hall's arrest.

Hall's indictment grows out of his business transactions with Major Lucius C. Tuckerman of Milton while Major Tuckerman was in military service during the war and he also has had experiences with a number of other residents of southern Ulster which resulted in personal benefit.

When war was imminent, Major Tuckerman joined the United States military forces and arranged with Hall to run his large farm at Milton during his absence, Hall taking a lease of the farm for a period of five years. He remained on the farm about three years, when he disappeared from the place about March 26 or 27 of this year. Major Tuckerman found that a number of articles belonging to the farm were missing, and investigation which has been carried on since that time has disclosed that Hall sold a large quantity of stuff belonging to the farm, appropriating the proceeds to his own use. The total value of the farming implements, tools and other stuff which was sold by Hall amounts, it is estimated, to more than $1,000.

Apparently Hall was not satisfied with what he took from Major Tuckerman. Throughout last winter he kept a pony, cart and harness belonging to Mr. Kelly, and some time before he disappeared he wrote to Mr. Kelly informing him that it was advisable to sell the outfit as the horse had been ill. Mr. Kelly directed Hall to make the sale, which he did. The proceeds, amounting to $225, were retained by Hall and Mr. Kelly has never received a cent from him.

Hall's business transactions with residents of Southern Ulster included a deal with Harry Stickles, who conducts a hotel at Milton. Hall represented to Mr. Stickles that he had bought a cartload of oats which was on their way to him. After some talk Mr. Stickles gave Hall an order for the oats and paid him in advance. Later it developed that there was not any car of oats on route to Hall, but by the time Mr. Stickles discovered that fact, Hall and the money he had received had disappeared.

A few days before his disappearance, Hall went to a Poughkeepsie dentist and had a large amount of dental work performed. He carried the dental work with him when he disappeared, and the dentist still carries an unpaid account against Hall for the same.

The matter was reported to District Attorney Traver sometime ago. He succeeded in locating Hall at Selma, Cal., and immediately on Hall's indictment he communicated with the authorities there who placed Hall under arrest and notified Mr. Traver. Extradition papers were at once prepared and with these and other necessary papers Sheriff Smith started for California.

Some years ago Hall conducted a blacksmith shop near Lattitown, in the town of Marlborough, and was a neighbor of Henry Craft at the time Craft shot and killed Martin D. Fallon after they had had an altercation over the use of a roadway. When the case came to trial, Hall could not be found although he was wanted as a witness at the trial. He did not reappear in the vicinity of Lattitown until shortly before the time he leased Major Tuckerman's farm.

Before leaving the Tuckerman farm in March, Hall purchased an automobile with which, it is supposed, he made the trip to California.

Newfield, Va., Dec. 31.—Recent weeks were carousal from this port today to the Shipping Board vessel Panamara, reported without fuel oil and short of drinking water, 600 miles west of Cape Henry.

Guy Barringer of Samsonville is at the sanitarium of Dr. William Kemble on Clinton avenue, suffering with bullet wounds inflicted by a neighbor Thursday afternoon which may prove fatal.

Barringer was brought to the Kemble Sanitarium Thursday evening by Dr. J. D. W. Dumond, who had been called to attend to him. He had two bullet wounds in his left wrist and one bullet wound in his abdomen, the course of the bullet having been from the left side, through the intestines to the right side, where the bullet emerged.

According to Barringer's story told this morning to Sergeant Sager of the State Troopers, he went to the house of a Swede named Olsen, near Samsonville, Thursday afternoon in order to get Olsen's son to do some work on his automobile. Olsen, Sr., was at home, but the son was absent.

They visited pleasantly for some time, says Barringer, and during the course of their talk they had several glasses of cider. After awhile, says Barringer, he went out of the house and on his return was greeted at the door by Olsen, who had a revolver. Olsen, he says, shot three times.

According to Barringer, there had been no quarrel or trouble between them during the time he was in the house, and he said he could not understand why Olsen had shot him, although expressing the opinion that Olsen was "a little queer in the head."

At noon District Attorney Traver, under Sheriff Haulenbeck and Sergeant Sager and Patrolman Lounsbury of the State Troopers, went to Samsonville to investigate the shooting and to take Olsen in custody.

DE VALERA IS IN IRELAND

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Dec. 31.—The mystery that for several weeks has surrounded the whereabouts of Eamon de Valera, president of the Irish republic, was cleared up here this afternoon when Henry Boland, his secretary, announced that de Valera is in Ireland. Boland stated that he has received messages from de Valera since he reached Ireland.

Boland declined to state how de Valera reached Ireland, under what circumstances he had left America, or how he had received a message that the Irish patriot had arrived in Erin. But Boland gave out a farewell message from de Valera, which had been left in Boland's hand for issuance upon receipt of word of his landing overseas. The message read:

"Land of the free and the home of the brave: Farewell! Farewell! May you ever remain as I have known you, land of the generous hearts and the kindly."

"May you stand through time as they would have you who love you—liberty's chosen champions; and oh, may you never know yourself the agony of a foreign master's lash."

"I came to you on a holy mission of freedom. I return to my people who sent me not indeed as I had dreamed, with the mission accomplished, but with a message that will cheer in the dark days that have come upon them and that will inspire the acceptance of such sacrifices as yet must be made. So farewell, young, mighty, fortunate land."

"My only wish that I can express is that I can measure the depths of my esteem for you or my desire for your welfare and your glory. And farewell to the many dear friends I have made and the many thousands who for the reason that I was the representative of a noble nation and a storied appealing cause gave me honors that were denied to princes. You will not need to be assured that Erin will not forget or that Ireland will not be ungrateful."

It was signed "Eamon de Valera, December, 1920."

The message was written in de Valera's own handwriting in pen and ink on two plain sheets of white paper.

PENROSE FIGHTS TARIFF BILL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Dec. 31.—Renewed and strengthened opposition to the omnibus tariff bill was seen today in the return to Washington of Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania.
Before his arrival last night, Penrose communicated to several of his Republican colleagues his opinion that the bill "is ill-advised" and "emotional."
Even though he is not yet a well-known name, even from the suite of rooms he is occupying at the Wardman Park Inn, so much as chairman of the senate finance committee to influence the course the bill takes in the senate, it is conceded by Democratic and Republican senators alike.
Penrose, as chairman, is expected to supply actively Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, who has been acting chairman in Penrose's absence, in presiding over meetings of the committee. McCumber is a supporter of the bill.

MORAN SCHOOL REMINDER.

Of Special Interest to Those Planning Business Careers.

To the young people who are contemplating courses at either day or evening sessions of the Moran Business School, Burgevin building, no better entrance day could be suggested than Monday, January 3, which marks the opening of the mid-winter term.

After a short period of intensive training in up-to-the-minute business methods, under the personal instruction of highly qualified teachers, the students who attend these winter sessions will find a ready market for their services in the wide field of business.

Special civil service courses leading to high-salaried departmental and mail service positions are now a part of the curriculum of the Moran school.

PAPER ON SATURDAY

The Freeman will be issued on Saturday as usual, and will contain in addition to the usual news of the day an extensive history of the year 1926, locally and generally. The message of Mayor Canfield and the proceedings of the common council will also be printed. Usually there is a demand for additional copies of this paper containing the annual review of the year. Anyone desiring extra copies should order promptly from a newsdealer or the edition is limited to sufficient to fill orders.

NEW YEAR'S AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Final plans are now being arranged for a most interesting occasion throughout the day and evening at the Young Men's Christian Association building, January 1st. The West Shore team has arranged to play the All-Stars basketball team Saturday evening. This game will be played following the evening game of the business men's volleyball game.

There are those who have been desirous of having the lunch room open for patronage and it will give many an opportunity of seeing one of the activities of the Auxiliary proceeding along well approved lines.

The Inter-church Film Corporation have sent one reel, the subject entitled "The Shepherd." This will be shown from 4:30 to 6:30 o'clock along with other reels of educational value.

Competition in pool and billiards has already interested many of the members. As this is open to the entire membership it is expected that there will be many in the contest and this will furnish entertainment to those interested in these games.

Those on the New York state bowling team will begin their competitive game at 7:30 p. m. sharp. A prize will be offered to the highest bowler for the evening. Much interest is being shown in the whole program and it looks as though everybody would be well entertained the whole day.

KNIGHT IN LEBANON.

Former Kingston Resident Spending Winter in New Hampshire.

The Granite State Free Press of Lebanon, New Hampshire, has this to say of a former well known Kingston resident:

"Once a Lebanonian always a Lebanonian" is the adage that finds more illustration in the return to town of Charles H. Knight, an old resident, an ornamental painter, painted the bedstead on which the senior still sleeps—very prominent in church, temperance and musical circles in the 70s and 80s of the last century; leader in his day of Baptist choir and social singing, as well as union service; often "called down the house" with his inimitable and ingenious musical instruments. He could extract music out of almost anything he touched. Indeed, a man greatly missed when he left us. Many years in larger business in Kingston, N. Y., where Mrs. Knight, a very bright and useful woman, passed away four years ago. Now approaching eighty-fourth year, and out of music. Coming here for a brief stay in October, he finds the new Lebanon as much to his liking as the old, and has taken rooms for the winter at the Park Hotel. He has a talented and charming daughter, in work so important, in Trenton, New Jersey, that he can not call her home so long and packages from Mrs. Reed's home something about her work—possibly, done up for distribution. A. W. Miller, later, it is work among life's uncertainties.

In addition, the following merchants gave a discount on the articles purchased of them: E. Winter's Sons, Connelly Drug Company, Maben and Walker, S. E. Eighmey, Joseph Block, Craft's grocery store, Kroger Ten Cent Store, Candyland, Rose-Gorman-Rose, Woolworth's, Ten Cent store and Goleff's fruit store.

Thanks are also due Nelson Smith, Miller's Taxi Company, Mr. Edmonston and Mr. Rowe for taking the guests to and from the hospital.

Ice Cream Company, 20 quarts of ice cream.

Those of the guests at the celebration Thursday evening who had attended other such celebrations, were delighted with the change in one of the patients, Miss Marjorie Davis, who calls herself the "pioneer patient" of the camp, having been the first one taken to the camp as a young girl, has so far recovered as to be acting as special night nurse at present. Since taking up this work under the supervision of the superintendent and assistant nurses, who have found her surprisingly efficient and interested, Miss Davis has improved greatly physically and in her nurse's cap and uniform last evening looked remarkably well and happy.

Other gifts were: Box of fresh eggs, W. S. Skinner, quantity of popcorn on the ear, Mrs. G. E. H. Skinner; Angora cap, Miss Hattie Safford; bed slippers and boudoir cap, Miss Mary Ingraham; bed slippers, Miss Emily Hoysradt; 15 boxes of candy, Mrs. D. E. Keyser; box of Trotty Veck Messenger cards, candy and nuts for the children, Mrs. D. Wotter; ten pounds of candy from the proprietors of "Candyland," Wall street; taxi service to carry the gifts under the supervision of the superintendent and assistant nurses, who have found her surprisingly efficient and interested. Miss Davis has improved greatly physically and in her nurse's cap and uniform last evening looked remarkably well and happy.

If only the people of Kingston who so generously contributed to the Christmas joy at the Tuberculosis Hospital could have seen just how much pleasure they gave, they would be happy indeed.

Hayes and Mrs. John H. Hubbard were the prime movers in this piece of generosity, the other donors being: Mrs. John H. Gallagher, Mrs. Chauncey Freer, Mrs. G. G. Kogel, Mrs. Henry N. Eldridge, Mrs. D. D. Hicks, Mrs. J. Zaccaro, Mrs. J. Simenetti, Mrs. James Lynch, Mrs. Thomas J. Quest, Mrs. Mary Logan, Mrs. J. Martin, Mrs. A. Reis, Miss Katharine Millard, Mrs. Nelson Lezotte and Mrs. E. T. Shultis. Then for Frank Cookkendall, Mrs. Hayes presented the hospital folks with a crisp new ten dollar bill, which with other gifts of money including a like sum from Mrs. Wm. S. Carter, will be used for the future comfort and cheer of the patients at those times when there is not the Christmas tullestness to fall back upon. Mrs. Hayes also amended Miss Hamburger's thanks for the comforts by asking that Mrs. Frank Thompson, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, be also thanked for suggesting the idea to the club women of the city.

After the distribution of gifts and a few parting words from Mrs. Reed the Christmas celebration for 1926 was brought to a happy close.

Mrs. Reed wishes to acknowledge at this time the contributions and gifts which came to her as almost of those gifts. Because some of the smaller gifts of money are by far the more costly gifts in proportion only the donors names are given, the total amount in money amounting to a little over $43, which purchased the above mentioned gifts, a Christmas card for each patient, and pretty Christmas paper and ribbon with which to do up the presents. Those who gave money were: Arthur Church, Mrs. Mary Hoar, "Baby Mary and Ruth Zeller," a friend, H. B. Wesley, Mrs. John Forsyth, Mrs. Agnes Runk of Aldonia, a friend, Mrs. E. Van Dyke Basten, Mrs. John Barsden in memory of Mabel Barsden, Mrs. C. E. Hasbrouck, Mrs. De Witt Rosa, Miss Katharine O. Van Kourou, Miss Shute, Mrs. Groe Lashen, Mrs. William F. Dedrick, Mrs. G. E. H. Skinner, Miss Cora Hughes, Mrs. Dutton, Prof. Elmore Erretra, Mrs. William Lawton, Melvin Schermerhorn, a friend, Mrs. J. Louis Heiser, a friend, Miss Emily Hoysradt.

Other gifts were: Box of fresh eggs, W. S. Skinner, quantity of popcorn on the ear, Mrs. G. E. H. KINGSTON, N. Y., DEC. 31, 1920.

The shooting of his brother, who came home late at night, by an excitable man in Morristown, N. J., is one of the inevitable results of the hasty recommendation of a general arming of the population by way of protection against crime waves and crooks.

It is reported that the government is suing John D. Rockefeller for $100,000 of unpaid income taxes. Even a fabulously rich old man, who is said to have given nearly $100,000,000 for public benefactions, appears to be a victim of the prevalent temptation to cheat the government, the greatest of all public benefactions.

Christmas present buyers this year are said to have invested in books much more heavily than usual, which is an encouraging sign of progress. But no doubt there is still point in the story of the chorus girl who told another that she thought of giving a book to a mutual friend, whereupon the other said: "I wouldn't; she has a book."

"HE-VAMPS," TOO.

The climax in one direction was reached when the Rev. Wilbur F. Crafts demanded rigid Federal censorship of the "movies" so that the pure young men of this great land could be adequately protected from the alluring smiles of pictured "vampire women," ignoring or ignorant of the fact that for one "vamp" in the movies, who is only a picture, there are a dozen "vamps" in flesh and blood on the streets of our cities. But now we seem to be moving back toward "normalcy," for a Florida statesman, who no doubt thinks that our pure young men can defend themselves if they want to, comes forward to protect our pure young women from "male flirt" of the streets, evidently reasoning that the "he-vamp" is a greater public danger than the "she-vamp." Representative Clark of Gainesville, Fla., says the women of Washington are "pestered" by men on the streets. Therefore he has introduced a bill to put "male flirt" behind the prison bars and to send "jovial lizards" to the rock pile.

Both the reformers named above seem to overlook the fact that the police from time out of mind have had ample power to deal with vamps of any gender whenever these overstep the bounds of public decency. Further than that protection must be provided by our young men and young women themselves, and ordinarily this is easy. All they need to do is to turn away their eyes from the meaning look and ravishing smile, which no law or even cohort of police can prevent. In cases of persistence, when they are spoken to and an acquaintance is claimed which does not exist, what is to prevent them from escaping the "pesterer" by threatening his or her arrest? A great deal depends on the attitude of the "pestered" young man or woman. There is much in the old saying that a gentleman or a lady is safe anywhere.

OUR RESPONSIBILITY.

After staging "Britannia Rules the Waves" for generations, not as an empty boast but as a statement of fact, it is natural enough that many English people should fail to relish the prospect of seeing the British empire fall behind in preparedness on the sea. The London Times speaks for those when it says that ten for ten the 17 capital ships now building for the United States navy are greatly superior to those designed for the British fleet before the battle of Jutland. The Times puts the British navy in the third rank in effective tonnage of capital ships when the present building to the United States and Japan is complete. It may mean a crushing load of taxation, but the former "mutinies of the seas" must try to keep up with the competitors now turning ahead, for the Times says, "It is security still depends upon a superiority of capital ships. Until the British empire will provide them as they have done, at whatever financial sacrifice."

What will the Times and its colleagues say the Navy Department's plan of another 3-year naval construction program similar to the previous 3-year program which actual war inaugurated? America's plans in operation and in prospect checked affirmative discussion of disarmament by the assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva, where Japan announced that she could not consider the question as long as the United States kept on building. The responsibility assumed or borne by our country in this matter, at a critical period in the world's history, is obvious.

SPECIAL DELIVERY MAIL.

Elimination of Receipts Expected to Improve Service.

Hereafter all special delivery mail will be delivered without receipts. Personal delivery will be effected where possible, but in the absence of the person addressed, the mail will be left in the regular receptacle. In case of office buildings and apartment houses, where mail is necessarily placed in the box of such buildings, notice to call at the box will be placed beneath doors.

The special delivery system is designed to expedite the delivery of mail, not especially to safeguard it. The registry system is provided to insure safety and mail containing currency or other articles of value should invariably be registered.

It is believed that the new method of delivering specials will result in improved service and even greater satisfaction to the public than the former method has given.

Get The Grinding Habit

If a food expert came along and outlined a plan to you whereby you could save from 12 to 25 per cent of the food you and your family have been in the habit of eating—it he outlined such a plan which would not necessitate any sacrifice on your part, you'd follow it, wouldn't you?

While we won't attempt to tell you how you and your family can live more cheaply, we will, however, undertake to outline a very simple plan whereby you can save from 12 to 25 per cent of the food ordinarily eaten by your live stock, involving no sacrifice to the stock. It is just this—GRIND YOUR FEED!

Ground feed is readily digested so that the full food value is utilized and converted into beef, butter, horse power or pork. The saving over feeding whole feed, as already indicated, amounts to from 12 to 25 per cent, which represents the proportion of whole feed that passes through the intestinal tract undigested—wasted.

GET THE GRINDING HABIT— and do your grinding with an INTERNATIONAL FIELD GRINDER.

WHY, asked a friend, "do you say so much about style, service and quality and about price?"

Simply because:

We give women credit for knowing that the beauty and charm of feminine apparel are much too subtle, rare and precious to be hawked about on bargain counters.

Our honest desire to make every transaction mutually satisfactory transcends all else.

Our entire time and energies are focused on gathering the unusual, the distinctive, the refined.

We let no one undersell us. And most women know it. Why stress it?

HEAR TELEPHONE COMPANY'S CLAIM

Gilboa Company Asks $10,000 For Plant and Equipment Condemned For Water Supply Purpose—City Expert Figures Value of Property Taken Is $499.65.

The Schoharie Reservoir and Shandaken Tunnel Commission, consisting of Messrs. Kelly, Mayham and Shea, who devoted the week to the hearing of the claim of the Pierce and Peaseley Telephone Company, have adjourned. That company presented a claim for $10,000 for the destruction of a portion of its telephone system and line by the City of New York for the purpose of the Schoharie Reservoir and the connecting tunnel. It appeared from the evidence that the company had 214 miles of wire, supported by 1,879 poles, aside from other means of support; 168 telephone stations, the poles were fitted with pins, cross-arms and insulators, brackets and other appliances. The principal office was at Gilboa with stations at Fraustville, Brookhaven, Conesville and other mountain villages, that the City of New York condemned all that portion of it within the limits of the village of Gilboa, and the immediately adjacent territory, leaving to the company the outlying mountain lines.

The contention of the company was that the measure of the damage it was entitled to recover, was the difference between the value of its entire plant and the value of that which remains after the city had condemned what it sought to acquire. The contention of the city on the other hand, was that it was only liable to the company for what it actually took, and that the company could connect its outlying mountain lines with other telephone centers.

The expert for the telephone company testified that a mountain telephone line, such as the Pierce and Peaseley, was only valuable in so far as it serves to create and maintain a telephone connection between people living within a comparatively small radius who were acquainted with each other, who did their trading at a common central village such as Gilboa, who attended church and social gatherings in their own neighborhood, who therefore desired to converse among themselves over the telephone as to their mutual interests and doings, that it could not be broken up as the city suggested, and subdivided among other telephone systems because its patrons would not care to be connected with a system the principal patrons of which were people whom they did not know, never heard of and did not care to know.

The expert called by the city testified that the value of the property of the company taken by the city was $499.65. It also appeared from the statements of the company filed with the state tax department, that it had reported its property to be of the same value which it asked the city to pay for it.

Judge Clearwater, in summing up the case for the company, said that the strongest proof of the integrity and honesty of Pierce and Peaseley was the fact that they had paid taxes and offered to pay taxes upon the same valuation they placed upon their property; that they had not asked the city to pay one penny more than they had reported to the state it was worth, and upon which for years they had been assessed and paid their taxes. Alluding to the testimony of the city's expert that the property taken by it was only worth $499.65, the judge said that the chairman of the commission, the Honorable Joseph Kelly, who had represented the city in the legislation, hardly could regard with pride the attitude of the most princely municipality in the world in seeking to obliterate the plant of a Cashville mountain telephone company for a beggarly sum of less than $500. Assistant Corporation Counsel William Grogan conducted the case for the city, and Judge Grant and Judge Clearwater for the Telephone Company.

HUNGERFORD'S NEW BOOK.

"With the Doughboy in France" is Worth Reading.

Notable in the flood of after the war books about the war because of the modesty and ability with which it is written is "With the Doughboy in France," by Edward Hungerford of this city, recently published by The Macmillan Company. "This book takes no pose as history," Mr. Hungerford says in his preface. "It simply aims to be a series of pictures of America in a big job." And a series of very vivid and interesting pictures it is of the work of the American Red Cross in France during and immediately after the war. Mr. Hungerford did not visit France until after the armistice. Therefore his "pictures" had many of them to be pieced together from knowledge and experience obtained at second hand, but were it not for the author's frank statement of this fact, the reader would not suspect it. Having been a good reporter before he became a full-fledged "literary teller," accounts for Mr. Hungerford's ability to warm over a story of the experiences and observations of others into an interesting and often dramatic narrative. From the description of how two surgeons, with only one set of instruments and no assistants except untrained ambulance drivers, performed 17 successful major operations in one night by the light of a few candles; to the story of the Red Cross girl who broke up a traffic congestion by voluntarily taking on the duties of a traffic cop, incidents related by Mr. Hungerford range. Of course, the reader gets full information about the importance of transportation—Mr. Hungerford couldn't have written the book without doing that, and there are several remarks about the dangers of putting too much trust in mere system and organization that are well worth a sober thought. There are few statistics—none used as most writers use them—but the facts are given in a way that will not put the reader to sleep nor make him dizzy. Some day, perhaps, Mr. Hungerford will write the multiplication table into a story that will be as entertaining as it will be instructive. He could do it.

EATING PLENTY BUT STARVING THE BLOOD

You Ought To Feel All Right But Somehow Don't

More Red Blood Cells Are Needed

Pepto-Mangan Enriches the Blood and Supplies the Necessary Red-Blood Cells

When you know you are not sick, but don't feel well when you get tired more easily than people your age should—when you can't get up the energy to do the things you know you would enjoy doing—build up your red blood cells with Gude's Pepto-Mangan.

If your blood is weak you cannot be vigorous in body or cheerful in mind.

Pepto-Mangan contains the elements that make rich, healthy blood. And as a result of the increased supply of red blood that Pepto-Mangan creates, the entire system attains the vigor that belongs to every man and woman.

Results from taking Pepto-Mangan show promptly. You feel benefited after a few days and much stronger in a few weeks. If you do not, consult a physician. You may have some deep-seated illness for which a blood tonic such as Pepto-Mangan is not sufficient.

Pepto-Mangan is prepared in two forms, liquid and tablets. They are exactly alike in medicinal value.

Ask your druggist for "Gude's"—when ordering Pepto-Mangan. Look for the name "Gude's"—on the package.—Advertisement.

N. Y. OFFICER TAKES 2 BANDITS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Dec. 31.—Two bandits, captured today while holding up a man, have confessed, police say, to participating in five holdups during the last three weeks.

The prisoners, both equipped with automatic pistols, started to run when Patrolman Licker surprised them in the hold-up. He hurled a night stick between the legs of one, bending him down and covered the other with his revolver.

They gave their names as Ernest Bauman and Fred Sachse. Both have criminal records, the police say.

WILSON APPROVES WILLERS SENTENCE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Dec. 31.—President Wilson today approved a sentence of five years' imprisonment imposed by a court martial on Captain John A. Willers, U. S. A., for desertion.

Willers, when arrested in New York several years ago, declared he had come to the United States in 1914 as one of a large number of German cadets who were to enter the United States army and act as spies.

Willers will now stand trial on charges of embezzlement of company funds.

ALBANY AVENUE TROTS TOMORROW

The Kingston Horsemen's Association will open its season of afternoon races on Albany avenue tomorrow afternoon, providing the weather permits.

It is impossible to state at this time how many will be out with their trotters. The number depends entirely upon the weather. A few have already been out, but for a short time only. The "matinee" starts at two o'clock. All horsemen of the city and vicinity are invited to participate.

MATTERS BEFORE SURROGATE GILL

The will of Anna Sargent Turner of the town of Saugerties was admitted by Surrogate Gill in the surrogate's court today. The testatrix gives her estate to her mother, Emma Whitaker, but directs that in the case of the prior death of her mother the estate shall be given to the Rev. Arthur Ritchie, rector of St. Ignace's Church, 562 West End avenue, New York city, to be used by him for St. Ignace's parish. Mrs. Whitaker is appointed executrix, or in case of her prior death, the Rev. Mr. Ritchie is appointed executor. The will was executed June 7, 1913, and witnessed by Eugene L. Myer and Warren K. Myer, both of Saugerties. The value of the real estate is $500 and the personal property amounts to $5,000.

COMPERS ISSUES LABOR MESSAGE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Dec. 31.—Labor faces a year of "solemn portent," Samuel Compers declared today, discussing the outlook for the new year.

"But," warned the veteran head of the American Federation of Labor, "let it be repeated upon every occasion to those who seek to go backward, to those who seek reduction of wages or antagonism to the unions, to those who seek, by whatever means, to restore the weakening grip of autocracy in industry, there must be and there will be every possible legitimate opposition on the part of labor."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Dec. 31.—There was a reversal of sentiment at the opening of the stock market today, the leading issues being in good demand and making upturns of from fractions to over 1 point.

MARY GRAHAM BOWEN

ZEBU FAMILY.

"We never give the keeper any trouble," said Zeb Zebu. "We're good-natured for the most part."

"Yes," said Mr. Zebu. "We're a pretty harmless lot. Well, in some ways it's a wonder we aren't more spoiled, for in India, from where we came, we were known as the sacred cattle of India."

"That might have spoiled us. For to be considered so much as all that is even very different from being petted and loved."

"But we are a pretty good lot. Now I have two big horns and a hump. I'm telling this so that when children come to a zoo and should see me or any of my relatives they would know who we were at once, and would bow their heads and say:

"How do you do, Zebu family?"

"I have reached my full growth, for I am five years old. The little younger Zebus have smaller humps. They have to grow to manhood, and five years of age before they can have real humps such as I have, or rather a real hump!"

"You, Mrs. Zeb Zebu, haven't as big a hump as I have; neither have you such big horns; you never have. None of the Mrs. Zebus have as big humps and horns."

"Now, your young baby doesn't show his horns until he is almost a year old. Sometimes he shows them fairly well when he is about six months old."

"Oh, but you are a jealous mother, Mrs. Zeb Zebu."

"You're a very jealous mother. 'And if another zebu mother has a baby all the other Mrs. Zebus would go after her for a day or two, just to annoy her a little because they were jealous, though they really wouldn't mean to be cross, and after a day or two they would come to their senses and be pleasant."

"How Do You Do?"

"Isn't that so, Mother Zeb Zebu?"

"Quite so, quite so," said Mother Zeb Zebu, or Mrs. Zeb Zebu. She was known by both names.

"You, Mr. Zebu, don't care for your young sons as you do for your young daughters. If you get a chance you might kill your young sons, where as I've never heard or known of a Mr. Zebu killing a young daughter."

"But you're all right when they're a little older, and you are very nice and friendly and fatherly and all the rest of it then."

"And when they're young, very young, and really only babies, all the Mrs. Zebus have the sense to keep their babies off to themselves."

"Sometimes a Mrs. Zebu has especially good about looking after her young, but that only happens once in a while. They say in the zoo that has happened. Usually Mother Zebu look very well and carefully after their young, and they at least would never do anything like hurt them."

"A mother Zebu only has one little one (or one big one, some creatures might call the babies) born at a time. It is all a Mother Zebu can take care of, she thinks."

"And so she acts according to her thoughts."

"But while we're cross when our babies come, for the first few days, as we're nervous and anxious for the safety of our new ones, we're pretty friendly to the whole."

"When my baby was born I was cross for three whole days, but then I was pleasant again."

"And the keeper comes right in and yells and even brings guests with him, and the guest brings gifts, who is just the greatest thing in the world, he comes in here, too."

"He was named after one of the keepers, the one who looks after Larry, the monkey, and Pat, the cat, and the one who named him was the keeper who looks after the goats and the bears and the sheep."

"And he lets his pet dog and his pet lamb come in here, too, and they have come in and we have had their hands with our great scrutiny, people's tongues."

"Yes, friends, the Zebu family is a very friendly family. The lot is afraid of us. We will not hurt you! And we hope you like to hear about us; we hope so."

AMERICANS LIFT DAVIS TROPHY

Sensational Playing of Johnston Decided Doubles and Made Necessary Three Wins to Bring Tennis Cup Back to States.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Auckland, N. Z., Dec. 31.—The United States today won the Davis cup when William Tilden, 11, and William Johnston, the American challengers, defeated Norman E. Brooks and Gerald L. Patterson in the doubles match. The scores were 4-6, 6-4, 6-0, and 6-4.
Today's doubles victory with the two victories yesterday in the singles match by the Americans gives the Yankee team the necessary three matches out of the five scheduled to lift the famous tennis trophy. The doubles match was hotly contested, Brooks and Patterson winning first set mainly because Johnston was slow and not able to get into his stride.

Johnston's brilliant volleying decided the second set. The Californian had hit his stride and his playing was too much for the cup defenders. Patterson seemed to lose confidence after the second set and the Americans then won the match handily. Tilden played a steady game throughout but the victory was chiefly due to the sensational playing of Johnston.

The big crowd that had turned out heartily cheered the Americans.

Elsie Ferguson in Sir Arthur Pinero's great stage success, "His House in Order," is the attraction at Keeney's tonight. Tomorrow Wallace Reid in "The Dancing Fool," a synopsis romance of jazz, jugs and joy.
"Reclaimed," starring Nabel Julienne and Niles Welch at the Auditorium tonight, is heralded as one of the strongest and most melodramatic photodramas released this year. Also programmed Alice Howell in "The Conflict Bride," a happy-go-lucky comedy. Tomorrow the new serial "Bride 13," also Paula Shay in "Who's To Blame."

The musical comedy attraction which comes to the Opera House for the entire week starting with a matinee Monday, January 3 and matinee daily, is the Orin and Coleman Tip Top Merry-makers with a company of twenty-five people, mostly girls. The opening attraction is "Al Phunn Inn." Seats are now on sale for all performances of the week at popular prices.
